Kathleen H. Greene to Presents Entertainment April 4

On Saturday, April 4, Kathleen H. Greene will present a humorous and dramatic program in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the Ladies Aid.

MIL0 NOTES

A large crowd was held spell bound at Milo last Friday night by the Milo school. The program was of a miscellaneous character featuring a number of tap dances, vaudeville skits and plays.

The first part of the program revealed much talent on the part of the younger children. The two outstanding stars taking part in the wedding of Jack and Jill were Patsy Anne St. Peter, 4 years of age, and Sunny McMorris, 3 years of age. The celebration that followed the wedding was very entertaining. The guests enjoyed watching the feature in tap dancing given by Betty Thornton, Maxine Watt, Jean Gilchrist, Lena Martin, Lila Page and Patsy Anne St. Peter.

The next hour of entertainment was filled by a one-act play, "Mr. Sudd, the Playright." This displayed much talent on the part of the actors chosen entirely from the high school. The program was followed by a dance which everyone enjoyed. The High School cleared the sum of $50 from the entire evening.

Brethren Church Notes

The Pastor will speak both morning and evening on next Lord's Day.

The evening service will begin at 8 o'clock instead of 7:30 as in the past.

The Crucifixion of Christ will be appropriately commemorated on April 10, Good Friday, by a three hour service. This memorial service will begin at 12 o'clock and will include script and talks. Rev. Suttle of Irricana and Rev. Wilkinson of Gleichen are among the speakers. Make your plans to be present.

Barley for Sale—A small quantity of 2 year old Trebi Barley, the big yielding kind, at 55c per bushel. Also small quantity O.A.C. 24 Barley, Certificate No. 541769 grown on summer fallow. Price 65c per bushel. Also some old and new oats. Enquire Pool Elevator for particulars. A. E. Starling.

Canadian Pacific Announces Bargain Fares to Coast

Teachers and students on Easter holidays and those taking early spring vacations, will rejoice in the announcement of bargain fares to the Pacific Coast by Mr. C. G. Taylor, local Canadian Pacific Agent.

Tickets will be on sale April 8 to 11th, inclusive, with 21 days return limit and will permit stop over at Banff, Nelson and stations west. A feature of these fares will be the privilege of tourist or standard sleepers at slightly higher rate and usual berth charge. The special cent-a-mile fare good in coaches as well as available.

From present indications there will be a record travel those contemplating the trip are advised to get in touch with Mr. Taylor as early as possible.

BOXING

The Gleichen Community Hall was the scene of much activity Thursday of last week when the Gunners Hockey Club presented their boxing and wrestling show.

The card was a particularly attractive one from the Arrowwood standpoint in that Bill Wilson, one of our local residents, featured in the headline attraction. The main event saw Kid Alcides of Edmonton matched with Wilson in a ten round bout. From the outset Alcides proved to be the aggressor and Wilson failed to show that snappy fighting spirit which was so evident in previous encounters. The non-nonsense boxer had the better of the encounter from the outset except in the fourth round when Wilson rocked him with a series of effective blows. The bout ended in the 7th round when Wilson took the count.

No doubt the headliner was a surprise but with Wilson in good condition, this popular boxer should reverse the decision in a return bout.

ATTENTION!

The Arrowwood United Church W.A. once again respectfully solicit the patronage of their many friends.

BUTTONS

Women are so changeable, so fashion-fickle, that it is necessary to prepare at least 300 new styles of buttons every season. Simple creatures of habit as far as fashions go, are content to get along year after year, generation after generation, with the same little circular disk with the same four little holes and the same sober colors: black, grey, fawn and brown. What a trial women are to those designers who revel in change, variety and mad, gay colours. Famine clothes would lose a great

Why Not a Holiday?

"Get away from your work and take a holiday" is a prescription frequently handed out by members of the medical profession to the jaded city office worker. The advice is usually based on the prediction that the eternal grind of routine work day in and day out, week after week and month after month has impaired the nerves and that change of scenery and new activities is all that is required to steady the nerves and tone up the flagging system.

Excellent advice unquestionably, but surely as applicable to the man and the woman on the farm and to the small town village merchant or worker as to the denizens of the larger centres.

As a matter of fact the former-to-day are probably in greater need of the recuperative benefits of change of scene than are the latter for the very good reason that no one has sustained a continuous barrage of hard knocks and trying conditions more than the man on the land and his family who have withstood a tremendous and prolonged siege against the combined forces of economic and agricultural depression.

The farmer and his wife and the occupants of the small towns and villages have been the shock troops of a terrific encounter with overwhelming forces for a long period. They have been the closest to the conflict and have borne the brunt of the fray for a term of weary years.

No one can undergo such a lengthy strain without feeling some deleterious effects on the nervous system and physical frame and it would be more than surprising if tempers have not become frayed and health, if not visibly impaired, is least threatened under such an ordeal.

Such being the case, is it not at all amiss to suggest that the time has come when the workers on the prairie should plan to take a well earned holiday this summer, even if it has to be limited to a week. True, it may be difficult to arrange for the necessary care for livestock and other things which must be provided for in the absence of the family from home, but such obstacles can usually be overcome with a little ingenuity and planning.

Objection might also be raised that it costs money to go away on a vacation and that there is so little of this commodity available as a result of the pressure of economic conditions of the past few years. Perfectly true, but here again the difficulty is not insuperable, except perhaps in extreme cases for, under present-day circumstances it is possible to contrive a holiday with very little expense.

For the majority of prairie residents the conveyance problem is already solved. There are few who do not either own or can get the use of a car or truck, even though it may be a physical strain and where these are not available there is at least a wagon and team.

A car and a tent or a truck or wagon and tarpaulin available, the twin problems of transport and temporary housing are solved. As for the question of sustenance this is also not difficult of solution on the prairies in the summer time. Some commodities can be carried along on the trip and others can be procured from small town merchants and farm houses at not greater cost than if they were purchased at home.

About the only additional expense at such a holiday is the cost of gasoline and oil, if a auto or truck is used, plus the cost of board while staying at some place where the vacationist can get the temptation to travel long distances and burn up road mileage at great speed. One does not have to go far from home to find new and interesting things and the leisurely pace is the one that affords the most beneficial results.

Such a holiday should yield dividends in improved mental and bodily health and it may be made to give educational returns to all members of the participating family. The alert vacationist will inevitably pick up some idea on such a tour which he can put to practical use on his return home. Contact with new minds will invariably result in broadening the outlook on life and incidents and scenes will be absorbed and cherished later. Incidentally, and as an aside, a camera, if one is available, may be made a valuable adjunct to a vacation trip.

Much more might be said about the virtues and values of a holiday. Suffice it to say that the man and his family who take a little time off for a change of scene and use the time sensibly will reap dividends that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

Early planning, too, has its advantages. Apart from the pleasure of anticipation it will insure that all necessary measures are provided against contingencies and enable the adventure to be taken with peace of mind, an important concomitant of a real vacation.

Perfect Courtesies

A certain middle-aged spinster has a vivid memory of Texas courtesy.

She was struggling with a hot cup of coffee in a small-town railway station, trying to gulp it before the train pulled out. A cowboy, seated a couple of stools away, noted her plight, and seeing the guard waving to the woman, came to the fore.

"Here, ma'am, you can take my cup of coffee. It's already brewed and blowed."

A forwarding agency in Tokyo advertises: "Hand your luggage to us. We will send it in all directions," while a shop-sign in Seoul, Korea, reads: "J. K. E. Express and Baker. The Best Loader in Town."

Speed Limit Of Planes

Only 375 Miles An Hour With Present Wing Design

With the present design of wings, airplanes will be limited to a speed of about 375 miles an hour, Dr. George W. Lewis, director of research of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, showed at a special meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences that was held in the New York Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center. This speed, Dr. Lewis said—and he showed motion pictures to prove the point—the sustaining flow of air over the top of the wing suddenly breaks away in a "shock wave" and the airplane loses all its lift.

deal of their charm and novelty if all buttons were monotonously alike. Sometimes, indeed, a few novel or striking buttons form the whole note of interest in a frock smartly sewn in line and cut. So, thanks to women and their weakness for ornaments of all sizes and descriptions, there are buttons and buttons and buttons—millions of them.

To say that men's buttons are conventional, sober and never-changing in style is not to say that they are uninteresting to watch in the process of creation; far from it. The newest of these buttons, made of "Plaskon," a moulding powder of urea formaldehyde type, start out in life as a "pill." To make a black button, fine black moulding powder is put into a machine which compresses it into what looks surprisingly like a charcoal pill, like an overgrown Aspirin tablet, of dark brown, bluish-colored powder is used. These pills are slipped into the holes of a double casing or tray which is slid into place over the moulds waiting for them in another machine. With one quick motion the operator releases the pills and each one drops into its respective place. The top half of the mould then comes down upon the lower half, squeezing the pill a pressure of one hundred tons and a temperature of 285 to 315° Fahr. At exactly the right moment the triple lifter and the buttons appear, all black and shiny, ready for the next operation, which consists of drilling through the holes and polishing off the rough edges. It is all very simple to watch, but the machinery required is solid, heavy, suggesting tremendous power control,

especially the massive machine
that made the dies that made the moulds that made the buttons that . . . (just like The House That Jack Built), for in that machine one thousand pounds of pressure can be exerted
so that one hard piece of steel can squeeze another piece of steel into the proper die to make a mould. This hobbing press, to give it the correct
name, is very interesting and instructive to see and hear about, but one keeps at a respectful distance; it is not a machine to trifle with.

"Plaskon" has a number of advantages over other materials; the colors are always uniform, they do not fade, and laundering does not affect it in the least. Buttons made of "Plaskon" are consequently
being used very extensively,
particularly on work shirts and sweaters.

Another method of manufacturing buttons utilizes "Pyralin," a beautiful and versatile material. This kind of starts out in the form of a "blank,"
which means nothing more than a round piece of "Pyralin," perfectly flat, stamped out with thousands of others and brought to a machine where they are moulded with heat and pressure
into the shape and design required.

Such materials as "Plaskon" and "Pyralin" help to make it possible to turn out endless supplies of these ever new, ever smart buttons so much in demand.—The C-I-L Oval.

"The Canadian Pacific's biggest liner, the 42,500-ton Empress of Britain, to be designated 'cabin' ship following the abolition of 'first class' designation by the North Atlantic Conference, will continue in operation as a high class, high speed, de luxe liner," William Baird, steamship passenger traffic manager of Canadian Pacific, said recently.

At one end of the Dominion the Eastern International Dog Sled Derby at Quebec, Feb. 20-25 hit the high spots in winter sport and at the other end was the Bepres Golf Tournament at Victoria, February 17-21, both sponsored by the Canadian Pacific Railway and each showing the versatility of the Canadian climate, since both were indubitably and entirely successful.

Sliding has reached unprecedented levels this winter with an average of 5,000 skiers taking week-end trips from Montreal to nearby mountain resorts all season and with similar figures available from all over the Dominion.
